Conservative Meeting in Crossfield

A very large gathering greeted Messrs. R. B. Fennett, K. C., the Conservative Candidate for the riding of Calgary, and G. H. McDonald, a rancher of Medicine Hat, who appeared in the I.O.O.F. Hall on last Saturday night to discuss the proposed reciprocity pact, which is at present occupying the attention of the people of the entire North American continent, and which is being discussed by all classes at all times and places.

Owing to professional duties, Dr. Tanguier, the President of the local Conservative Association, was unable to take the Chair at this meeting, and Mr. T. H. E. Magee was asked to fill this place of honour, which he very ably did.

Mr. McDonald was the first speaker to be introduced to the audience, who accorded him a patient and courteous hearing. Mr. McDonald's speech showed that he had given the subject a lot of thought and that he was convinced that the proposed reciprocity agreement was not in the best interests of the Canadian people.

At the close of Mr. McDonald's speech, Mr. Jas. Lant, a prominent farmer of the Crossfield district, stepped upon the platform and asked the speaker if he was aware that farmers of the West had spent a lot of money in sending a delegation to Ottawa to ask for reciprocity. Mr. McDonald at once rose and said that he was quite aware of what the farmers had asked the government for, and he believed upon one occasion there had been a question of reciprocal trade relations with the United States.

Mr. Bennett was then introduced and after alluding to a couple of reports current here which has to do with his past while he was the C. P. R. solicitor, launched forth on a flow of oratory that held his audience in close attention from start to finish, being at once brilliant and yet simple. Mr. Bennett dealt with reciprocity in all its phases from a Conservative view point, and his argument was at all times very convincing.

At the close of Mr. Bennett's address one stanza of "God Save the King" was sung the meeting was ended.

A meeting of the Conservatives of the town and district was held immediately after the big meeting at which some campaign details were arranged.

"Well," Vera said, loftily, "you don't expect to find him in here, I suppose? Of course, if your duties carry you so far as to ransack a lady's room, I will not prevent you." The absolute iciness of the whole thing profoundly impressed the listener. Astute as they were, it never occurred to them that the girl was acting a part; furthermore, with their intimate knowledge of Fenwick's past, they knew well enough that Vera had no cause to shield the man of whom they were in search.

"We will not trouble you," Egan stammered. "It is a mere matter of form, and it would be absurd to suppose that one of us would intrude in your room. In all probability he received news of our coming and got away without your knowledge. It is just the sort of thing that a man of his type would do. We have the rest of the detectives here, and we shall certainly have to look elsewhere for their chief. Will you please accept our apologies?"

Vera waved the men aside haughtily. She was glad to turn her back upon them, so she could not see the expression of her face. She was trembling violently now, for her courage had suddenly deserted her. For some long time she stood there in the corridor, until, presently, she heard the noise of wheels and saw the vehicles drive away. Then, with a great sigh of relief, she recognized the fact that the detectives had left the house. She opened the door of her room and called aloud to Fenwick. She called and called, but without response.

"Oh, you can come out," she said, contemptuously. "There is no cause to fear, for those men have gone." A moment later the yellow, fear-distorted face of Fenwick peeped out into the corridor. He came shambling along on tottering limbs, and his great nose twitched horribly. It seemed to Vera as if the men were looking at a more treacherous of the man who so often mistreated and outraged.

"They gave me a rare fright," Fenwick said in a senile way. He seemed to have aged twenty years in the few minutes. "You are a woman of cool and courageous of you, my dear. I couldn't have done it any better myself. You don't think I am an advanced one and would have taken Vera's hand in his, but she turned from him with a look which said she was wondering which the disliked most—the cold, cruel, determined criminal, or this miserable, cowardly creature who had leant on anyone for support."

"Don't touch me," she said, with a shudder. "Don't think I am a coward. I should have handed you over to those men gladly. I was ready and willing to do it. My brother recalled to me the fact that the same blood runs in the veins of both of us. It was the remembrance of that which made me lie just now, that caused me to run the risk of a criminal charge myself. For I understand you are a body who harbors a thief for whose arrest a warrant has been issued, runs the risk of being hanged, and to think that Le Fen had made a thing of that kind for such a creature as yourself—it is too much for me."

"I suppose it is, my dear," Fenwick said in the same earing voice. "I never expected to find my self shielded behind a woman. But I have lost all my nerve lately, and the more I drink, the more my troubles, the worse I get. But you must not think too badly of me, for I am not so black as I am painted."

"Could you be any blacker?" Vera asked. "Could any human being have descended lower than you have descended? I think not. You imagine because I threw in my lot with you three years ago that I know nothing of your crimes. As a matter of fact, I know everything. I know how you had shifted the responsibility of that dastardly murder on to the shoulders of the man who is in jail with your sister Beth. It was for her sake that I pretended ignorance, for her sake that I came with you, for her sake that I went to the bottom of your designs. What I have endured in the time nobody but myself can understand. I will come out now, and here I am today trying to shield you from the very vengeance that I have suffered for you for all this time. Oh, don't say anything; don't deny it; don't add any more useless lies to the list of your views. Go now. Let us see the last of you, and never intrude upon us again."

All this outburst of indignation had apparently been wasted on Fenwick, for he did not appear to be listening for you all this time. Oh, don't say anything; don't deny it; don't add any more useless lies to the list of your views. Go now. Let us see the last of you, and never intrude upon us again."

am not so young as I was; indeed, I am much older than people take me for. I have no money, and no friends, there is not a place I can go to. Don't turn me out—let me stay here, where I shall be safe."

"It is impossible," said Vera, coldly. "We have done enough, and so have you. Now come this way, and I will hand you over to my brother and Mr. Evers. They are cleverer than I am, and may be able to devise some means for getting you out of the country. Why don't you come?"

"I can't," Fenwick almost sobbed. "There is something in my limbs that renders them powerless. If you will give me your arm, I darestay I shall be able to get as far as the little room."

The touch of the man was pollution, but Vera bravely endured it. She could hear the excited servants talking in whispers downstairs, and one of them might appear at any moment. It would be far better for the domestic staff to assume that the girl was alone, than for her to be seen with a man who had just been arrested for a crime. Fenwick was glad enough to be finished and the trembling form of Mark Fenwick was lowered into his arms. The cunning look still shone in his eyes; the born criminal would never get rid of that expression, though for the rest he was an object now more of pity than fear.

"It is very good of you," he said, "that you do not let me stay here. I will be discovered."

"That is absolutely certain," Le Fen said. "You are a man of honor, you can't remain here. You may remain for the night, and Mr. Evers and myself will try and think of a plan between us."

"And Zary," Fenwick whispered. The mention of that dreaded name sent a shiver down Vera's spine. "I am afraid of a good many things, but the mere mention of that man's name stops my heart beating and suffocates me."

"You had better go away," Le Fen said. "Vera and I have a wretched creature to us. There will be no trouble in hiding him here for the night. There are two rooms here that nobody knows anything about except Evers and his father."

Vera was only too glad to get away into the open air, glad to feel that the long, nerve-racking mystery was coming to an end. She wanted to see Venner, too, and tell him all that had happened. She was waiting at the front door with a light heart and a goodly number of things to tell. She had not felt for some time, Vera set out on her journey.

JUST A MISTAKE

The Antique Collector and a Bargain Jewel Gasket.

The collector had been moaning at America for their ignorance of antiques. We had been walking in Venice, down a narrow canal while he was speaking. "I have a great scale," he resumed, pointing to a fish stall in the little outdoor market on which he had just conferred. "I am a gem, not very old, but of the finest seventeenth century Venetian work. If you saw that in a New York dealer's, all cleaned up, you'd give up a good deal for it, but you'd pass it by as a door wreath. I had a look over about it. See that old junk stand over there? I never pass a thing like that. You can never tell what you may pick up if you only know."

BRAVERY OF UMPIRES.

O'Day's Famous Decision a Sample of Nerve on the Diamond.

Writing in the American Magazine about baseball umpires, Hugh Fullerton says they are both brave and square and cites as an example of nerve a famous decision by Hank O'Day. He says:

"O'Day has shown his bravery on many occasions, but never more conspicuously than he did on the day when he called Merkle out on the Polo grounds when he made his famous failure to touch second base. O'Day had been in the same play at Pittsburgh two weeks before and had overlooked it. When Merkle made the hit that should have won the pennant for New York and thousands of francs came upon the field to congratulate the Giants O'Day saw his duty. He saw Merkle run to the clubhouse, and throwing down his protector he ran down into the diamond, new Kers had the ball on second base, and above the tumult he called Merkle out."

"Five thousand men were screaming madly around O'Day and the Chicago players, partly understanding the situation. Men struck at him, struck O'Day with their bats, and some of the new Kers had the ball on second base, and above the tumult he called Merkle out."

"O'Day's bravery at that occasion was more noticeable because he could have shirked the duty without blame. It was Emalle's decision, yet O'Day, seeing Emalle lost in the crowd, shouldered the responsibility and made the decision. He was a hero before the thousands of angry men."

CHINA'S EVIL

It Will Take Seven More Years to Wipe It Out Completely.

The opium agreement recently signed at Peking by Sir John Jordan for England and the Chinese government promises the certain extinction of the traffic within seven years. It starts out by recognizing the good faith with which China has endeavored since 1907 to reduce the production of the drug within the empire, and the first covenant is that for the next seven years it shall undertake to decrease its output to such a point that the annual import from India is diminished.

Great Britain agrees that no opium shall be exported from India to any province of China which has effectively suppressed the cultivation of the poppy. The entire export of opium from India to any province of China is to be reduced to 5,000 chests, but it is to be even greater in 1912, 1913 and 1914.

A loss of revenue of at least £3,000,000 will be incurred on the surface involved in India from the loss of the imports on the trade. This may have to be met in part by a contribution from the Indian treasury. But in parliament recently Undersecretary Montagu of the Indian office intimated that some other way might be found of meeting the deficiency—New York Sun.

Electrostatic Eggs

It is possible that the peculiar taste of a cold storage egg, which is something not easy to mistake, may be removed if experiments now being made by an electrical contractor are successful. Says the Inventive Age: "It is claimed that when fresh eggs are placed in cold storage the eggs acquire an electric charge, which is responsible for the peculiar taste. It is claimed that in spite of the preservation qualities of the ice the eggs do not taste good when cooked. It is now claimed that the eggs are charged with the natural fresh taste may be retained and not removed when the eggs are placed in cold storage. The eggs are killed by placing a metal cap on each end of the egg and then throwing on a pressure of 600 volts."

English Jail Methods.

A woman member of the house of guardians of the town of Salford, England, wishes to learn the exact nature of the punishment which is meted out to a state yard and worked for half an hour with the stone breaking machine. Her contention was that stone breaking should be abolished as "cruel, worse than useless, degrading and unprofitable." The board had gone to the help of the woman, for which there was no use, and having it crushed to give the paupers something to do—Springfield Republican.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON X.—THIRD QUARTER, FOR SEPT. 3, 1911.

Text of the Lesson, a Comprehensive Quarterly Review—Golden Text, Ps. xxxvii, 14—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Sterns.

Lesson I.—Joshua's prophecy concerning Sennacherib. (Isa. xxxvii, 36.) Sennacherib is in the line of Cain and Pharaoh and all enemies of God and His people to be consumed in the blaspheinous anti-christ of the last days of whom and through whom is always seen the devil. The devotion of Hezekiah to the living and true God was too much for the great adversary, and so he stirred up the King of Assyria against Hezekiah. But see how two men who knew God prevailed in prayer.

Lesson II.—The sufferings of Jeremiah. (Jer. xxxvii, 1-10.) The sufferings of Jeremiah are a type of the sufferings of all who are true to God. He is in the line of Cain and Pharaoh and all enemies of God and His people to be consumed in the blaspheinous anti-christ of the last days of whom and through whom is always seen the devil. The devotion of Hezekiah to the living and true God was too much for the great adversary, and so he stirred up the King of Assyria against Hezekiah. ## TO OPEN JASPER PARK

TRANSCONTINENTAL WILL ENTER PARK NEXT YEAR

Train Service from Edmonton West to the Yellowhead Will Be Established by the G. T. P. Next Year, and it is Expected That the Line to the Pacific Coast Will Be Completed in 1913.

Calgary.—"Next year we will have a good train service from Edmonton west to the Yellowhead, right into the heart of Jasper Park, and will be able to take thousands of tourists there, to enjoy the glories of a summer resort that is without an equal," said E. J. Chamberlain, second vice-president and general manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway company, who was with President Hays and party on the special train that passed through this city recently.

According to Mr. Chamberlain the summer climate of the Yellowhead country is ideal, while the scenery is marvellous. There are several hot springs in the park and also cold mineral springs, the value of which upon analysis have been found to contain all the properties necessary for curative purposes.

The hot springs of Jasper Park are very large, and the water exceedingly hot. Howard Donnelly, secretary of national parks for the Dominion Government, who has visited the park many times, and who is superintending the installation of various conveniences for the tourists, who are expected to flock there in great numbers, says that the water of the Yellowhead connection is established, has reported to the G. T. P. officials that the hot springs are giving out a volume of water three times as great as those at Banff. The government is preparing to pipe the water from the best of these springs down to the G. T. P. line, where baths, etc., will be installed.

Notwithstanding that there was no direct railway connection with the park this summer, hundreds of tourists went in by stage and pack train, and all were delighted with the outing.

The park abounds in big game, such as grizzly bear, deer, goats, and other Rocky Mountain animals, according to Mr. Chamberlain, who stated that their grading and construction gangs had been compelled to kill many grizzlies that molested their camps.

Mr. Chamberlain stated that it appeared quite probable that the transcontinental line would be completed through to the Pacific coast in the near future. Shortage of men was militating against progress considerably, he said. Great difficulty was being experienced in getting men who would remain at the camps west of Edmonton and through the mountainous country.

ACTIVE WAR PREPARATIONS

French Government Reach Agreement Which Will Be Presented to Germany

Paris.—The session of the council lasted for two and one-half hours. The cabinet adjourned to meet on August 11 at Reims, where the presidency of President Fallières.

Although the situation cannot be regarded as suggested by the French yet an important step has been taken toward a rupture or an accord, depending upon how the German government receives the proposal.

The instructions endeavored to place the French position in Germany's position in Morocco and authorize Ambassador Cambon to offer the French parts of the Congo in exchange for the absolute renunciation by Germany of French rights in Morocco.

Both France and Germany are carrying on war preparations and each power appears willing that the other should know it.

Immigration Is On the Increase

Ottawa.—During the month of July 1912, immigrants arrived in Canada, 18,600 at ocean ports and 11,019 from the United States. As compared with July of last year the increase is 17 per cent.

For July last year the figures are 16,018 at ocean ports and 9,199 Americans. For four months of the current fiscal year, arrivals at ocean ports numbered 127,026 and from the United States 54,814, making a total immigration from April to July inclusive of 182,739.

Corresponding months last year gave 156,072 at ocean ports and 54,929 Americans, making a total of 151,071.

Temperance Reform for Edmonton

London, Ont.—John Ayer, a local worker and secured appointment as a provincial license inspector to prosecute the enforcement of the liquor law of Ontario, has resigned and left for the west, where he has been appointed general secretary of the Edmonton and Strathcona branch of the Temperance and Moral Reform League.

Will Put Church Union to Referendum

Toronto, Ont.—The Methodist of Great Britain and church membership all over Canada will soon have to pass upon a basis of church union. The national conference of the Methodist church will meet here on Wednesday, Oct. 18, to arrange for the submission of the question to a vote.

BIG ACREAGE OF SPRING WHEAT

In Northwest Provinces It Increases More Than 1,500,000 Acres

On August, 1910

Ottawa, Ont.—The area of spring wheat in the northwest provinces this year is 1,529 acres more than last year and of oats 341,000 acres, but no increase is shown for barley. The yield of hay and clover is estimated at 12,189,000 tons for Canada, being 1.43 tons per acre, and the largest yields for provinces are 4,376 tons in Ontario, 5,028 tons in Quebec, 24,000 tons in Prince Edward Island, 94,000 tons in Nova Scotia, and 885,000 tons in New Brunswick.

This is what a crop report just issued by the Dominion census and statistics bureau says.

It also says, compared with last year's crop in the northwest provinces, the condition of spring wheat in Manitoba south of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway line is 38 to 39, and of oats 34 to 35, and of barley 35 to 36, and north of the same railway the condition is 38 to 39 for wheat, 30 to 31 for oats, and 38 to 39 for barley. In Saskatchewan south of townships 25 the condition of wheat is 39 to 40, oats 38 to 39, and of barley 39 to 40.

NEW AGREEMENT PREPARED

Miners Condemn Action of B. C. Government

in Placing Constables at Coal Creek

Fernie, B. C.—The mass meeting of miners held here passed a resolution condemning the action of the provincial government in stationing provincial constables at Coal Creek, where no disorder of any kind has taken place since the miners' strike, and demanding that these constables be removed at once.

The miners' union remains the same but it is generally believed that the row's Nest Pass company are preparing a new agreement with the individual miners for a vote and that notices are being printed ready for the miners. The mass meeting looks like a counter move to effect this anticipated action of the mine company.

District 10, of Washington, has sent $25,000 to the miners of this district, and say that this payment will be repeated whenever necessary to keep the miners here from wanting during the strike.

Another Big Gold Strike Reported

Skagway, Alaska.—The belief prevails here that another Eldorado has been unearthed at McClintock Creek, entering Marsh Lake, about ten miles from the Tagish Post, Yukon territory. A stampede has started for the creek and prospectors for miles are off to the scene. This is no scare, but probably another Klondike.

Two well known prospectors, Reid Good and Shorty Austin were on the creek and found a lone prospector at work. He had a hole fifteen feet deep and although he had not reached the rock had found gold pay. The discovery of this great placer gold strike has thrown the whole country into great excitement. Skagway caught the gold fever and the morning train over the White Pass was crowded with gold seekers.

Harvest Hands Are Stranded

Toronto, Ont.—Torontoian correspondent, writing to a local paper from Strassburg, Sask., under date of August 20, says:

"The country is O.K., but of dissatisfaction is felt at so many men are stranded at one prospecting site. Regina and Moose Jay by hundreds are saying hard things about the company, but the newspaper despatches, which misrepresent the situation, are stating all the men of the first excursion had been placed, which is not so, even at this date."

Civil Control Is The Only Way

Regina.—The first week's working of Regina's municipal street railway under normal condition shows that the system promises to be a paying proposition from the start. With only four cars as yet in operation the system last week carried 13,500 passengers. The total taking for the six days being $672 which not only covers the working expenses and interest charges but shows a small net profit.

Another Instance of Sauciness

New Bedford, Mass.—The German cruiser Bremen, had a torpedo practice in Buzzards Bay recently, firing eight shots at a target towed by a tug along the west end of Paquet Island. This is within the three mile limit over which the United States has jurisdiction and so far no protest has been made. The German government has not asked for a permit to hold target practice in American waters.

Duke of Connaught Will Visit U. S.

Birmingham.—The London correspondent of the Post writes that in view of the wish of both the Canadian and American governments the Duke of Connaught will pay an official visit to the United States. His itinerary will include all the chief industrial cities. The tour will probably take place during next February.

G. T. P. Let Contract for Branch Line

Winnipeg.—The contract for sixty miles of the G. T. P. from Biggar to Calgary has been let to Phalen and Sirley. The new contractors have the work for the first fifty miles. Steel will reach Pittsburgh by the end of the week, 250 miles from Edmonton.

WILL WILD SMELTER

ZINC SMELTER TO BE LOCATED IN THE GAS BELT

Medicine Hat or Dunmore Will Get Big Smelting Plant to Treat Zinc Ore From Lead to Steel

Calgary.—Great activity in Zinc Mining in British Columbia, and Work is Resumed on a Large Scale.

Vancouver, B. C.—Plans are far advanced for the building of a smelter for the treatment of zinc ore in the Sloan district by the natural gas process, recently discovered and which has already revolutionized the zinc industry in Missouri.

The plant will be located at some point on the natural gas belt along the line of the C. P. R., either at Medicine Hat or at Dunmore in connection with the Sloan zinc mine, the well-known Sloan zinc proposition, is now in Winnipeg conferring with Sir William Whyte, vice-president of the C. P. R., in regard to the zinc smelter site as well as freight rates on ore shipments.

Ritherto owners of Canadian zinc properties have been compelled to re-transport their ore to almost prohibitive duty on zinc ore shipped to the United States and the high freight rates. Most of these shipments were sent to Joplin, Missouri, as the experience of shipping zinc ore to Antwerp, Belgium, only proved a partial success, for railway rates and rates on ore shipments were prohibitive.

In view of the possibilities of the industrial development work on the Lucky Jim and other Sloan zinc mines has been resumed on a scale unequalled for entertainment. This and the new process will render amenable for treatment thousands of tons of low grade ore from the dumps of the Sloan camps and which hitherto were considered useless.

C. N. R. Magnates on Western Trip

Winnipeg.—Discussing local railway matters, Sir William Whyte, who was much pleased at the manner in which construction work in the far west was going forward, both in Alberta and British Columbia. Asked whether his company would handle a party of several million bushels of wheat to the west coast, he replied that he would be much pleased if it would handle from sixty to seventy million bushels.

No information was obtained from Sir William with reference to the objection of the railway to the proposed trip north to Stewart on the Portland canal, where both Sir William and Sir Donald Mann. It was intimated that the trip of the vice-president was the first of the year, and that the latter would go through to British Columbia to see the work on the Portland canal, where both Sir William and Sir Donald Mann. It was intimated that the trip of the vice-president was the first of the year, and that the latter would go through to British Columbia to see the work on the Portland canal, where both Sir William and Sir Donald Mann.

Winnipeg to Welcome British Editors

Winnipeg.—Winnipeg will extend a most cordial welcome to the members of the British Press association during their stay here. The inauguration of the new railway to the west, the interest of the city have arranged for an automobile sight-seeing tour of the city, and on Friday, which will be followed by a dinner the same evening. The city council will give who flogged his horse in a range for a special excursion to the big hydro-electric plant on Saturday, September 2.

Canadian Navy Building Deferred

Ottawa.—It is probably a matter of some weeks before the construction of the new vessel which will constitute the Canadian navy. Before Hon. L. P. Brodeur, former minister of the navy, retired, he placed tenders received in the hands of technical officers. These officers are now considering the merits of the various tenders received and will report later.

A Big Stick

Captain Harders Lloyd, polo player, was talking in New York about the great English public school of Eton. "I am glad," he said, "that flogging is now done away with. Eton boys used to suffer a good deal from the birch. There was one Eton master in his death, when he came to die, was announced in the newspapers, and the Etonians said, 'The Etonians are under the head of 'Loss of a Whaler.'"

C. N. R. IN CALGARY IN NOV.

Will Tap the Northeastern Coal Fields to Help Out

Calgary.—To relieve the local coal famine occasioned by the strike in the Crown's Nest Pass, the C. N. R. will rush its Greyhound line into the city by about November so that the mines of good domestic coal to the immediate north may be tapped, declares M. H. Macleod, general manager of the Western lines of the C. N. R.

"We shall do all in our power to help the city in this respect," he said. "Of the road to Calgary, Mr. Macleod said 197 miles had been already completed, and he promises that, given the weather and no unexpected encumbrances, the road will be into Calgary by November. At any rate, even if anything unforeseen should happen, it will be in the city by early spring. All the grading, he said, would be completed before the frost came, and then it was only a matter of laying the steel. At present the steel in Calgary was piling up a handicap. The work of laying the steel in Calgary was necessarily slower than on some routes on account of the large amount of bridging that has been accomplished this side of the Red Deer River. The C. N. R. crosses the Rosebud Creek, six or seven miles north of Calgary, and naturally militated against rapid progress."

He declared it was too late in the year to attempt putting up a permanent station, and that for this year they would have to be content with temporary quarters on the Mission property.

PARTITION OF FINLAND STARTS

Russia is Cutting Two Parishes Off

Viborg of Strategic Importance

St. Petersburg.—The Emperor has approved for submission to the Duma, a bill cutting off Kivenneke and Nykylä, two parishes in the Viborg province, and adding them to the province of St. Petersburg. This measure is related to the partition of Finland. These two parishes cover an area of nearly 1,000 square miles and containing a population of 30,000. The area is important strategically as it skirts the coast line for the Baltic Sea, and is about twenty miles to the north of the present boundary of St. Petersburg province.

The cutting of these parishes was raised in Russia. The Finnish senate agreed to cut off Kivenneke and Nykylä from the present attitude of Finland is one of uncompromising opposition. The bill, with the minister in the cabinet, and was made possible under the law of June 30, 1907, extending the Duma's power of legislation over Finland.

Sir William Whyte to Retire Soon

Winnipeg.—The Tribune says: "A rumor is current in C. P. R. circles that Sir Wm. Whyte will retire in the course of a few days, announce his retirement from active management of the railway to the directors of the company. The persistence of the rumor leads to the belief that it will be confirmed within a few days. Sir William will continue his relations with the company in a capacity similar to that occupied by Sir Wm. Whyte in the past. The name mentioned in connection with the rumored vacancy, is that of the Duke's power general manager of Western lines."

London.—Montagu Barlow, M. P., and Allen Baker, M. ## APPEAL OF LUMBERMEN

MOUNTAIN LUMBERMEN HAVE ENTERED A COMPLAINT

The Railway Commission at Vancouver Will Hear Cases of Alleged Want to Abolish Allowances That Have Been in Effect for Years Past in British Columbia.

Calgary, Alta.—Matters that affect lumbermen throughout western Canada, and in which the lumber manufacturers are particularly interested, will be presented before the railway commissioners when they sit at Vancouver, Aug. 30, by W. A. Antle, of Calgary, representing the Mountain Lumber Manufacturers' association. These matters have to do with the proposed action of the C. P. R. in abolishing certain allowances for tare weights, and with the publication of rough rates on lumber to stations on the G. T. P. railway, which the lumbermen have not as yet obtained.

The chief complaint has reference to the proposed action of the C. P. R. in abolishing allowances which has been in effect for years. The lumbermen claim that the proposed action of the C. P. R. in abolishing allowances for tare weights due to absorption of moisture by the average variation of rain, and as well as accumulation of dirt in the bellows, making an error in the allowance for tare weight, is a fair one to be borne out by the lumbermen to submit evidence in support of their action.

From here its good name was spread to Central and South America, the West Indies, Australia and New Zealand. That is far afield enough to attest its excellence for in all the countries it is on sale and in demand.

Old Joe Appleby had the reputation of being the "homeliest man God ever made," but one day he met a stranger who was "homelier" than he.
"Stranger," quoth Joe, "I guess I've got to kill you."
"Why so?" asked the stranger.
"Because I've always sworn that if I ever see a homelier man than I was, I'd kill him on sight."

The stranger shifted his quid to the other cheek, and looked Joe over with a calculating eye.
"Wal, go ahead," he drawled. "If I'm homelier than you be, I want to die, s'help me."

"Does your wife always insist on talking to you when you are shaving?"
"Not always. You see, I sometimes shave when she is away from home."

Impurities of the Blood Counteracted—Impurities of the blood are the cause of many diseases. They are revealed by pimples and itching blotches on the skin. They must be treated before they become dangerous. There is no more effective compound to be used than Minard's Liniment. They act directly on the liver and by acting on the liver they have a beneficial effect upon the blood, so that impurities are eliminated.

ITCHING ECZEMA'S CAUSE AND CURE

THIS DREADFULLY TORTURING AND OBSTINATE DISEASE IS ENTIRELY OVERCOME BY

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

Eczema is common to rich and poor, old and young, and is neither contagious nor an indication of uncleanliness, as some suppose.

Teething, improper food, indigestion, vaccination, poisoning by clothing or from fly, etc., are named among the causes.

There is inflammation, redness, heat, swelling, discharge, formation of crust, and all the time annoying, troublesome itching and burning, which often becomes so torturing as to be almost unendurable.

This ever present itching is what makes eczema so dreaded, and it is this feature to which Dr. Chase's Ointment gives relief from almost the first application.

Dr. Chase's Ointment is not only delightfully soothing, but it is a wonder as a means of healing the skin. It is not long before the raw, itching sores are thoroughly cleansed, the itching subsides and the process of healing begun. Persistent treatment will then bring about a thorough cure.

This great ointment is always beneficial to the skin, making it soft, smooth and velvety, and besides healing the most effective treatment known for the cure of eczema, is useful in every home as a sure way.

Mothers use Dr. Chase's Ointment for the chafing and skin troubles of their babies in preference to unsanitary pore-clogging powders; 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

HER QUIET MAJESTY.

A Reporter Learns Something of the Queen's Tastes.

"Dressing like a queen" is a phrase usually suggesting an extravagantly gorgeous wardrobe. But in the case of Queen Mary the idea does not hold good.

Indeed, the lady whose income will not admit of rich and gorgeous clothing, and who therefore is mostly but unobtrusively dressed, may feel gratified with the knowledge that she and "Her Majesty" taste in common.

A woman journalist recently had an interesting chat with a member of the firm of Lucile, Ltd., and learned some interesting information about Queen Mary's taste in dress.

"In the matter of all four styles of dress—morning, afternoon, evening, and walking costume for country wear—'Her Majesty' taste in the direction of quiet simplicity," said the informant. "For morning wear her dresses are usually light-tinting tailormade in style, and the material is generally tweed or cloth, in either case of fairly fine texture. The Queen prefers tight-fitting clothes of not too soft material, and her favorite color is certainly blue. Her morning costumes are sometimes of sapphire-blue, but all shades of that color are being becoming to her."

"No, Queen Mary is not an admirer of the Peter Pan style of neckwear, and invariably she has high collars."

"In the afternoon you will more often see Queen Mary dressed in pale shades of pink or perhaps in white or pale blue. The material varies in accordance with the season of the year."

"For evening the summer she will wear crepe-de-Chine, fine voile, or the material composed of silk and cotton, perhaps a lace jacket of clinging design."

"By the way, 'Her Majesty' shows a distinct partiality for embroidery, and will often favor brocade worked in graceful patterns."

"She dislikes the 'foppish' style, and even in full evening attire inclines towards a simplicity which is almost severe. This style of dress sets off 'Her Majesty's' figure to advantage; for, as many of her loyal subjects have noticed, she is built on ideal lines—a slender waist, a full bust, low and gracefully curved hips, dark, above the waist, and dark below."

"For evening wear 'Her Majesty' is fond of satin, and in colors her choice is usually a combination of black and white. The chief characteristics as regards the actual adornment of the Queen's evening costume are a few good diamonds or pearls, and a touch of gold somewhere about the dress. This may take the form of a bow or ribbon, possibly a sash or sash-ribbon."

"The Queen's hats are usually small; frequently they are toques, usually in dark colors, being of different shades of brown and grey. Sometimes a softer velvet as a substitute, or perhaps a small hat."

"If the Queen wears a large hat, it is generally turned sharply up at one side, the skirt at the top of the hat being very pointed at the top. On this style of hat feathers are usually worn."

"Quiet smartness is the keynote of the Queen's blouses. She is fond of chiffon material. Her belts are usually plain, and always match the blouse. Her gloves are usually of a generally white kid. Black is her favorite color for shoes and stockings."

"In particular, especially in the country, the quietness of 'Her Majesty's' dress is even noticeable as a point of contrast to make dresses for 'Her Majesty,' would up the informant. 'Her Majesty' is always so thoughtful and considerate."

The White-Eyed Kaffir.

That popular music-hall artist, Mr. Chirgwin, who recently celebrated his jubilee, says that it was really owing to an accident that his black face with the white patch over one eye became famous.

"I was playing at a garden fete in Gloucestershire," he says, "and while giving my eyes. On the spur of the moment I rubbed the spot, and in so doing the black paint off my face. When I looked up the people gathered round the stage roared with merriment. 'Ah, look at the nigger with the white eye!' they shouted in chorus. I had fortuitously and instantly achieved a triumphantly successful career."

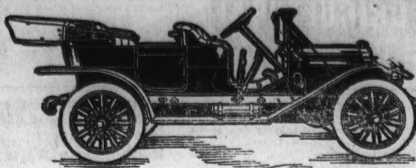

During Victor Hugo's exile Dumas was in Guernsey, where Hugo received him kindly and took him to breakfast on a veranda overlooking the ocean. If did not take Dumas long to discover that Hugo was already posing as the prescribed prophet, and the poet said, with an Olympian wave of his hand, "You see me, my dear Dumas, on my rock of exile like the prescribed one of antiquity."

"Never mind," said Dumas, with his mouth full. "The butter is far better here than in Paris. There is no disputing that."

This Is IT!!

Frost & Wood
No. 3 Binder
does Better Work

Because of the Eccentric Sprocket Wheel the No. 3 Binder makes a neater, more tightly compressed bundle and saves considerable time. Discharges the bundle faster, too, than the ordinary binder. Remember, no other binder has the Eccentric Sprocket Wheel. Neither is any other binder so light in draft. At all points where there is a possibility of friction occurring the makers of No. 3 Binder have provided Large Roller Bearings. That's why the Frost & Wood No. 3 runs so smoothly and easily—one reason why it gives so many more years of service. Another reason for its great durability is the strong, powerful construction of its back bone, which we would like to explain to you fully. Drop in at your earliest convenience and talk things over with us. We are confident that the Frost & Wood No. 3 is the binder for you. Give us a chance to prove it.
